Another type of a stressful event that many women have experienced is unwanted sexual experiences. Women do not always report such experiences to the police or discuss them with family or friends. The person who did it isn't always a stranger, but can be a friend, boyfriend, or even a family member. Such experiences can occur anytime in a woman's life-even as a child. You may find the next questions disturbing, but it is important we ask them this way so that everyone is clear about what we mean.

Again, I would like to remind you that any information you give will be kept confidential. Because these questions are sensitive, if you feel you might need to talk with someone after this interview, I will give you a hotline number at the end of the interview.

(If the R would like the number now the toll free telephone number is 1-888-421-1100)

Women's lives often change as a result of such unwanted sexual experiences. I'm going to ask about different aspects of your life. For each, please tell me if this aspect of your life was affected by your experiences.

@J1 Did you ever have to take time off from work for which you were getting paid?

@J2 Did you ever have to take time off from child care or household chores?

@J3 Did you have to take time off from school?

@J4 Did it impact your trust in other people?

@J5 Did it impact how you feel about yourself as a person?

@J6 Did you change your daily activities in any way because of any of these unwanted sexual experiences? By daily activities I mean not going certain places or changing your routines or habits.

@J7 Did you change where you lived because of any of these unwanted sexual experiences? By this I mean moving to a different part of the country, a different town or a different home within the community where you had lived.
