Ready, Fire, Aim…An American Solution to Problems
Focus

- Attempt to address the void in the literature about leaving the gang

- Frame leaving the gang as part of a life course process

- Provide a better understanding as to what constitutes “former” gang membership

- Highlight the roles of offending and victimization
Characteristics of Gang Definitions

Group characteristics.

Symbols of membership.

Persistence of membership.

Self-identification.

Criminal involvement.
What do we need to know to create successful gang Prevention, Intervention, Suppression and Re-entry strategies?

Community characteristics, assets, and deficits.

Individual gang member characteristics – race/ethnicity, age, gender, siblings, family structure, neighborhood, education.

Gang Characteristics – turf, age of the gang, initiation rites, exit rites, link to prison gangs, hanging out.

Gang Organizational Characteristics – rules, roles, leaders, meetings, handling of money.

Gang Activities – crime and non-crime.

Gang Crime – involvement in gang versus non-gang crime, drugs, guns, violent crime, property crime, rivalries.

What if we reduce gang SRD to pre-gang levels? What is the “saving” in crimes committed?

How are gang members organized in your community? What is your source of information about their organizational structure?

What are the implications for understanding gangs? Human Smuggling? Terrorism? Drug Smuggling?

What are the implications for responding to gangs by law enforcement, the community, social services and NGOs for each type?
Six Risk Factors for Gang Membership

1. Poor parental supervision
2. Early childhood aggression
3. Delinquent belief systems
4. Significant negative life events
5. Peers that are gang members
6. Commitment to street oriented peers

Number, Intensity, Duration, Early Onset
Longitudinal Research on Gangs Shows:

1. Gang membership, on average tends to be of short duration, typically less than two years.

2. Five Percent of gang members stay in the gang beyond four years.

3. Gang members commit significantly more crime and more serious crime, three to five times more than their population share.

4. We don’t predict gang membership very well.
Who is “involved”?

1. Serious & Chronic Offenders
   Gang Leaders

2. Other Active Gang Members
   and Associates

3. Children and Adolescents at
   High Risk for Gang Involvement

4. General Population of Youth and Families
   Living in High Risk Areas

Share of Illegal Activity

Relative Share of Population
Framework

- Gangs from a life-course perspective
  - Onset, persistence, and desistance
- Exiting the gang
  - Sudden vs. gradual departures (Maruna; Decker)
  - Pushes and pulls (Bjorgo)
- Implications for leaving the gang
  - Offending and victimization
  - Pro social relationships
  - Collateral Consequences (neighborhood, family)
What does the literature show?
(Not much)

Leaving the gang occurs as the result of:

1. Normal maturational processes (jobs, marriage, family)
2. Growing tired of “the life”
3. Exceptional events “extreme violence”
4. Rarely, very rarely, but occasionally programs
What does “former” mean?

The end of:

2. Social ties? Being together in social space.
4. Criminal behavior that supports group objectives?
Conceptual Focus

1. What factors increase the number of ties to the former gang network?

2. How does the number and strength of ties increase criminality? Especially since longitudinal research shows that gang membership increases frequency and severity of offending and victimizations.

How do ties vary in priority, duration, strength, intensity and number?
Ties to Former Gang and the Former Gang Network

- Definition of Gang, Gang Member and Former Member
- Importance
  - Life course
  - Leaving the gang
  - Victimization risk
  - Offending risk
The Nature of Ties

- Desistance, Gang Ties, Offending and Victimization.
- A sample of 120 former gang members in Phoenix.
- The number of ties declines the longer one has left the gang.
- Social ties to former gang members show a different pattern than emotional ties. Social ties persist, particularly for former members who don’t leave their neighborhood.
- Emotional ties, particularly to family members in gangs, persist longer and stronger.
A Conceptual Focus for Gang Desistance

- Controls
- Gang: Delinquency Organization Neighborhood
- Length of desistance (in months)
- Gang Ties
- Offending And Victimization
Discussion Model

i. School Disruption

ii. Gang Neighborhood

iii. Length of Desistance

iv. Male

v. Gang Organization

Gang Ties

Offending and Victimization
Discussion

- Gang departure alone is a start, but not a “cure-all”
- Closer to the former gang network = more offending and more victimization
- Intervention efforts should focus on: “knifing-off” gang ties and concentrate on pro-social relationships and atmospheres, especially neighborhoods
- How do gang ties interact with other mechanisms, such as programming, life course changes (jobs, marriage)
Discussion

- The impact of lingering ties to the gang
  - Neighborhood gang activity increases ties, thus making it harder to leave the gang
  - School disruptions decreased ties to the gang
  - Lengths of months in desistance decreased ties
  - Increases in gang ties is increases risk for both victimization and offending
  - Implications for policy: It is not just length of time since leaving the gang, it is reduced ties – social and emotional – to gang networks that reduces victimization
Discussion

Pro social ties need to be fostered, particularly for gang members so that those ties can counteract gang ties.

Working with the gang structure remains a bad idea as it reinforces ties among gang members.
